2023 Gala Report: Bloom - Scatter Seeds of Hope

by Legacy's Board Chair and Gala Emcee Sierra Mullinax

I was so excited to learn that this year's theme was Bloom: Scatter the seeds of hope. You see I'm a gardening GEEK, total nerd. I'm sure some of you can relate. Jesus taught in parables as he shared common earthly stories that had heavenly meanings. Of course, I can't relate as much to sheep and fish as I can to gardening parables.

As I'm out working in my garden, I think constantly on the many parables Jesus used on the subject. I picture the unfertile soil that needs amended as the areas of my life that I need to pray about, I picture the weeds as areas of sin in my life as I try to rip them all out, I have a greater appreciation for the sometimes painful pruning God does in my life through struggles as I prune my tomatoes and flowers and watch them bloom and become even more fruitful. My mornings in the garden are a continual praise to God as I remember that He created me, delights in me and cares for me just as I do for each of my plants.

And yet all the pruning, weed pulling and soil cultivation is in vain if the seeds aren't scattered and the light doesn't shine.

A farmer can't not tend his soil all day and expect a harvest without the seeds. Just as we can't tend our gardens all day, our own areas of our lives without spreading the seeds of the gospel and hope to others, if we are to be used by God.

The word bloom as two meanings. As a noun it is the beautiful flower we see in gardens or the fields or on our tables. But as a verb, bloom means to develop or come to a promising stage.

Remember, God has planted you where you are that you might be a blessing. He wants you to take deep root. He wants you to bear rich fruit. And if you will draw upon His power, He will enable you to be a blessing. Bloom where you are planted and bear fruit to the glory of God and the enrichment of others.

Let us all tonight come together as brothers and sisters in Christ and praise God for His creation of each of us, for the gifts His given each of us and the blessings of the ministry of Legacy that we all support as we scatter seeds of hope and watch as He brings us and these young Moms to a promising stage full of hope, to full bloom.

Isaiah 35 1-2 "The dry land shall be glad;
it shall blossom abundantly with joy"

Ellie's Story from Gala

Ellie's Story as told by a Legacy staff member and Ellie, herself.

My name is Ellie Holbrook, I am 18 years old. Over the last couple years I have battled many hardships, including depression. These events started leading me down the wrong path. I was stuck in a cycle of feeling worthless, and constantly searching for something that would fulfill me - some validation. So when I met my daughter's father, I was excited at the prospect of a new relationship, one that would give me everything I had been searching for. I soon found out that he was a master of lies and deception. What began as thoughtfulness soon turned to abuse. I was smart enough to make my exit from that relationship, only to return back to him months later. The Devil is strategic in making us believe we need someone, when that person is actually going to hurt us. The second time I realized just as quickly as the first that being with him was not safe. 2 weeks after we broke up, I found myself staring at a positive pregnancy test in the school bathroom. As I stared at those two lines, a multitude of feelings arose in me.

Ellie came to Legacy lost and broken and looking to justify the hurt that had happened to her. She was excited to find out that she was pregnant, but terrified at the same time. She knew that she was going to be doing this alone, wondering if she might have some support from her family. She was scared to tell them but found the courage the same night that she had come in. Her parent's reaction was not one that she expected. Instead of responding out of anger they responded with love and compassion. They prayed with her that very moment.

I was not expecting, or deserving of the love and support my family gave me when I told them I was pregnant. Or the support they have given me since then. Having to hide my pregnancy every day I went to school took a toll on me, but Legacy offered a community where I didn't have to hide. I struggled through my pregnancy more than what I let on, from the mental aspect. But I had and still have an overwhelming amount of support which I am eternally grateful for.

Ellie actively participated in parenting classes and attended Mommy Groups at Legacy. She made connections with other clients during those gatherings and she hopes that she can come alongside another teen mom to help her see that there is hope. Ellie had a baby girl in August of 2023 and named her Caroline.

The day my daughter was born was one of the greatest days, it was full of almost every emotion! Meeting her was the coolest experience of my life, and it made me have a deeper appreciation for Gods creation. I am not anything special, I have strayed from the Lord time and time again, yet He never left my side. Through everything I know Gods purpose for me is to be prosperous to those who are where I once was.

Ellie has grown so much! She has reconnected with God and her family. God has brought her and her dad closer together than they have ever been. Caroline is a happy beautiful baby. She brings so much joy to her family and Legacy staff.

Even as I grow into my new role as a mother, God meets me where I am. He's always met me in the darkness, all I had to do was look to the light of my Savior. For anyone reading this who might feel hopeless, or find themselves asking God why, look up to the Lord, for in Him you will be set free.

Ellie and Caroline

Welcome, Jenny Vollmer!

Hi, I'm Jenny Vollmer. I've been married to Jeff for 31 years and we have seven children, with four still living at home. After our third child was born, I left my job as a registered nurse on an obstetric unit to stay home and homeschool our growing family. Two years ago, I began to volunteer and teach childbirth classes at Legacy. It wasn't long before I knew that the Lord was calling me to be a bigger part of the ministry there. I enrolled in an RN refresher course and now have an active license again! Shortly after, a part time RN position became available for me! It worked out just perfectly, since I still have a busy family and homeschooling life! I love serving pregnant women who are facing unknown futures, and supporting new moms as they begin their mothering journey. My favorite thing is leading the Mommy Group. It is so encouraging to see the moms interact and encourage one another, and I love the mentoring role that I get to play in that. I'm thankful for the opportunity I have to shine some light and hope into their life.

Prayer Request

Please pray for open hearts and minds for the Safe Haven box at Sheridan Memorial Hospital - the first one in Wyoming. This is a community wide initiative that Legacy hopes to partner in promoting and offering support to help make it happen. www.nationalsafehavenalliance.org

Baby Bottles are kicking off in Sheridan and Johnson County Churches February-April. This collective Change for Life raises $25,000 with approximately 25 churches. If you would like to be a liaison for your church, work at a bank and can be our change coordinator, or have your church join this collaborative effort contact Auda at events@legacypregnancy.org. We appreciate Sierra Mullinax, baby bottle chair and volunteers Angie Gilbert & Sue MacDougall as well as the current churches and liaisons currently participating.

Open Role: Administrative Coordinator

We are prayerfully seeking an enthusiastic, detail oriented, compassionate individual to welcome clients, organize and coordinate client programs and events, and exemplify efficiency in administrative tasks. Are you ready to join our Legacy team? Please drop off a cover letter and resume during center hours.

Welcome New Board Member: Alex Loftus!

Having always had a heart for life, Alex began volunteering at Legacy as a teenager. After spending several years away in Laramie, Gillette, and Laramie again, Alex and her husband, Cody Englert, moved home to Sheridan in 2019. They are grateful to be back and to raise their boys, Ben and Jesse, here. Alex is honored to serve in this role, and appreciative of God's goodness in bringing her back to Legacy. She's excited to see God continue to use Legacy as a light for life to the Sheridan Community.

Fun Fact-Alex was 17 when she met Maureen through Legacy. Alex volunteered with Maureen's daughter Ashley (now best friends) at Legacy's first event downtown in 2010 handing out cupcakes for life. Alex was also one of our first sponsors a day at 17 years old and shared then her heart to be an adoption attorney. Alex is in fact a lawyer and we are excited to see how God continues to use her gifts.

Legacy's Endowment

Making a lasting gift has never been easier!

Legacy partnered with Frontier Asset Management for our Endowment Fund because of the ability to provide an opportunity for people to leave larger gifts to Legacy, yet invest the funds in a manner that aligns with our values:

"Through our Christian Worldview strategies at Frontier, we provide the opportunity for biblically responsible investing which empowers the Christian to support companies that seek to uphold Biblical values and to avoid companies that don't. We scrutinize each fund to determine their involvement in abortion, pornography, anti-family entertainment, non-biblical lifestyle, tobacco, gambling, and alcohol. This financial product allows us to invest in companies that uphold the views and values of our Christian clients."
